A RED LETTER DAY FOR GEORGIA.

THE PROCESSION, SPEECHES AND FIREWORKS

HOW OUR GUESTS WERE ENTERTAINED.

Atlanta has rejoiced again. The city gave up yesterday to a general and jubilant jollification; to a great and sincere rejoicing over the election of Cleveland and Hendricks. No wonder it was crowded as it seldom has been. The meaning of a national victory for honest constitutional government had just been fully taken in by the people. A great champion of the cause of honest administration of the public affairs had come to join in the glad demonstration. The railroads had almost thrown their lines open to the use of Georgia democracy. Atlanta had resolved to make the demonstration a success. It is past. It good to see and good to remember. It dawned with a gloomy protest in the skies against all joy. neen wept itself away in torrents. The afternoon continued dark but the wind; after coquetting with the east and south, formed a real and lasting attachment for the cold but constant north. The democrats defied the clouds before, but when the wind turned in their favor and blew away the rain there was nothing in the world to prevent them from having a great, glad, red night of it, and they had it!

Pennsylvania in Atlanta. W THE CITY'S GUESTS SPENT THE DAY-ITS VARI

Early yesterday morning Mr. Randall and the gentlemen with him were called upon by a com mittee of citizens who consulted their pleasure as to the manuer in which they desired to spend the day. They were driven to THE CONSTITUTION O fice and there they had AN INFORMAL RECEPTION from 18 to 11 o'clock. Probably a hundred prom inent citizens shook hands with the distinguished Pennsylvanians at that time. At half past eleven, the committee from the legislature, appointed under the resolution of Colonel L. M. Lamar, of Pulaski, and headed by him, found Mr. bly had expressed an earnest desire to receive him honor thus conferred and with Messrs. Hensel eGrann and Jamison was escorted to the capital There a mark of respect was accorded him such as has seldem been given to any public man When he entered the hall of the house he was cheered by the representatives and the citizens in the galleries. Mr. Randall advanced to the area in brief and admirable speech which will be found in the legislative proceedings. When minutes to allow the members to meet the distinguished statesman personally, they all gathered around him, and one by one were presented by Speaker Little. Few of them had ever seen Mr. Raudail before, but they did not feel that they were clasping the hand of a stranger. They thought of the time when the man before them stood day and night at his desk in congress defending the south from oppression, at a time when she needed friends, because she was voiceless in the counsels of the country. It was Mr. Randall's good fortune yesterday to hear

HEARTY WELCOME TO GEORGIA fall from the lips of her representative men, and he must have felt that these men spoke for the great masses of the people of this state. After isiting the senate and house the party were driven through the principal streets of the city. which in spite of the disagreeable day presented an attractive scene of liveliness, as the great crowds surged between the gaily bedecked buildings. A visit was paid to the Capitol City club house, which was beautifully decorated for

At half past 2 the Pennsylvanians were again driven to the club where a dinner had been arranged in their honor. As they entered they beheld the word "welcome" wrought in resoluds, and suspended in the main hall.

They were intited into the front parlors where a table beautifully set awaited them. The rooms were all richly ornamented with flowers. Dependent from the arch between the parlors was Mr.

Fandall's in tials in white and red rosebuds. The spreed was for twenty. The seats of honor were occupied by Mr. Randall. Mr. Hensel, Mr. Jamison and Mr. McGraun. Major Mims, president of the club, presided.

The following named gentlemen were at the Hon. Samuel J. Randall, of Philadelphia. Hon. W. U. Hensel, of Lancaster, Pa.

Hon. B. J. McGrann, of Lancaster, Pa. Hon. B. K. Jamison, of Philadelphia. United States Senator Joseph E. Brown. United States Senator Alfred H. Colquitt. Governor Henry D. McDaniel. Congressman Nathaniel J. Hammond.

Fillet of Beef with Mushrooms Claret Chatean Margaux. Wild Turkey, Walnut Dressing. Saratoga Chips, Claret, Sherry and Sauturn.

Roman Punch frozen in Oranges. Canvass-back Ducks, Celery Mayonaise. Champagne. quails on Chestnuts. Champagne, Cheese Wafers,

Ice Creams-Cake Assorted:

Fruits, Coffee.
The dinner continued, for two and a half hours and was heartly enjoyed by all present. When the cigars were shedding their delicious odors. Mr. Grady proposed the health of Mr. Randall, which was drank with a will. Mr. Randall responded in a brief but happy expression of his thanks. He said that he had never in all his life been the recipent of courtesies which had elicited such feelings of gratitude in his heart. Mr. Hensel made a most opportune after dinner speech, and Mr. Me-Grann and Mr. Jamison were called upon and respon-led happily. It was nearly six o'clock when the dinner concluded. . The visitors and the citizens composing their escort, were driven to the capitol, where the procession was being formed. By this time the rain had ceased, and a keen, northwest wind guaranteed security from the clouds for the rest of the evening. When the carriages containing the guests and their escorts reached Marietta street they found it literally packed with people, many of whom bore torches and were ready to step in the great triumphal march of the democratic army, while thousands stood by taking in ing as only Georgia democrats can.

The Crowds that Came. HOW GEORGIANS CAME TO ATLANTA TO CELEBRATE The crowd came and the rain came, but the wd stayed the longest. The first delegation to each the city was the one from Greenville, S. C. This delegation came in on the Air-Line special carly in the morning. It was composed of about hirty gentlemen and half as many ladies. From the carshed the party went direct to the National hotel, where they were accommodated. On the same train with the South Carolina delegation, a large crowd made up of delegates from Athens, Lula, Gainesville, Flowery Branch and other stations came. The train on the Air-Line road, which arrived at noon, also brought in a big crowd. The W. & A. road arrived at 1:20, fifteen minutes late and loaded down. Chattanooga sent down a crcwd on dxty boarded the same train. This delegation was made up of Cartersville citizens, Bartow county people. Cedartown's population and residents from all around Cartersville. The ertersville brass band, however, did not come, This train picked up passengers at Dalton, Big Shanty, Calhoun, Marietta, and in fact at every station along the line. The Georgia Pacific, in addition to the regular train, run an excursion train of five cars. People who had never been on a train came down that road yesterday, and came not for the ride, but to enjoy the celebration. The East Tennessee brought a crowd from Rome, Villa Rica, Dallas, Austell and other stations, while the Central brought legations from Macon, Forsyth, Griffin, Barnesille and Jonesboro. The West Point train was ike the Western and Atlantic train, behind time. The train was literally packed. Opelika's delegation of about fifteen was aboard. This was augmented at West Point. LaGrange and Newnan. At the last place the Carrollton delegation mounted the same train. In fact, every station on the road sent up a delegation-the delegations varying from five to a fifty people. The trains were all decorated, especially the engine and first class coaches. One or two Pullman cars were especially beautiful. The erowd made the car shed the central point and the side walks were almost impassi until up again at one o'clock. This, however drove them into stores, shops and other places of shelter, but as soon as the rain ceased falling, the people come out again. Marietta street, from the capitol to Peachtree, Decatur from Peachtree to Ivy, Peachtree from the ratiroad to Ellis street, Whitehall from the railroad to Mitchell, Alabama, Pryor, Loyd and Broad were one seething moving of men, women and children. Everybody had a tin hern or a flag, and everybody was in an excellent humor. The police had no trouble, whatever. The crowd moved about during the afternoon watching and admiring the decorations and making purchases. No drunkenness or dis-orderly conduct was indulged in, and as crowded as the streets were, ladies and children found no trouble in getting along. Everybody was ready to make everybody else happy, and when parties would meet on the crowded sidewalk they would make room for each other to pass. The hotels and restaurants were run to death, and the crowd was estimated at from 12,000 to 15,000.

In Holiday Attire.

HOW ATLANTA DRESSED HERSELF FOR THE JOYOUS Yesterday Atlanta had on her holiday attire. Thousands upon thousands of flags fluitered gaily in the wind until the streets looked like a vast touquet of red, white and blue. The handsome buildings that adorn the central part of the city were almost completely covered with the beauti ful flags of the union, and never did the colors of the country float above a happier city.

The central figure of flag and bunting decorations was, of course, the triumphed arch which extended across Marietta street from the capitol to the customhouse. The arch was almost forty feet high and nearly a hundred feet long, and was gaily dressed off in festoons of red. white and blue bunting, flags, pictures of Cleveland and Hendricks and various other things that patriotism suggested. The entire structure was surmounted b an immense eagle. The arch looked exceed-

From ave o'clock until after ten the bright blimding blaze held complete sway. All along the line of march the streets were as bright as though the sun at its zenith, windows presented one solid sheet of lights, and bonfires here and there added to the brightness. When the procession formed on Ma rietta street it was formed directly under the electric lights at the opera house, and the blaze of five hundred candles artistically farranged in the Grant & Fitten building. Every window on every floor of the two buildings was studded with andles, and the effect was both pleasing and itisfactory to all who observed the display. Alabama for two blocks. Along Whitehall the lights were abundant. The Atlanta gas works office was one sheet of flame, while nearly ever window on both sides of the streets was illumina-ted with candles. Bonfires too, were made in every block. On Pryor street the one block over which the procession moved was bright. Blans & May's place was well illuminated, while all the residences gave forth lights. Even the courthouse clock, which has been in outer darkness for months, save forth its shine. The police headquarters had a hundred gas jets out, and a large transparency. Dr, Alexander's residence was the first one reached. The porch was highly decorated with beauty, and the chinese lanterns, swung from wires, made the stars on the small flags visible. Then the Gate City Guard armory was bright. The Capital City club building was never more attractive in appearance than last night. The handsome lawn was bright with chinese lanterns when the calcium lights did not dim them. Every window from the one round pane in the tower to the basement, was full of candles. The Leyden house and Major. Maddox's residence were pretty, while the executive mansion was simply grand. The Georgia coat of arms fully ten feet high appeared in the lawn in front of the main entrance. It was over the gravel walk leading to the door, and struck all who saw it as one of the most appropropriate decorations of the evening. The hallway and the windows were as bright as though the sun's rays were penetrating them. From the mansion to the end of Peachtree, nearly every residence on both sides of the street were illuminated. NOTES. Mr. John Silvey's residence on Marietta was illuminated.

Mrs. Butler's mansion on Marietta was quite bright. The Johnson and Arlington hotels, nearly opposite each other on Marietta, sent forth enough light to make the street bright. Mrs. Tuller and Dr. Brockett both illuminated. J. P. Stevens, the jeweller, had his windows elegantly arranged. On the windows were "Welcome to Pennsylvania's Honored Son '"Randall." "Democracy." The windows were brilliantly

The Grant house was lighted beautifully. As the procession turned from Broad into Alabama street one of the finest displays of the entire line, that of W. The front and rear of Mr. John Ryan's store was literally covered with Chinese and Persian lanterns, presenting a most beautiful display, also two large transparencies of Cleveland and Hendricks, surrounded by lanterns of various hues. While the procession was passing the street was kept brilliant with fires of all colors. Besides this the store was profusely decorated with red, white and blue calleces, and perhaps the largest flag in Atlanta.

Among the bandsome illuminations was that of the southern department of Continental insurance company, of New York. The windows were elabprately decorated with flags, and in each window hundreds of canales put forth their brilliancy on the surging crowds.

Among the beautiful displays that of M. Rich & Bros. is worthy of notice; their elegant and spa-cious store was brilliantly lighted as early as four clock. Later, under the glare of the calcium lights, their windows seemed pictures of beauty, while the front of the building, gally decorated with flags and Chinese lanterns suspended from the awning, formed a dazzling frame for the gems from the best foreign looms visible below. The procession started on time! At six o'clock last night the Atlanta brass band, which was stationed at the corner of Broad and Marietta streets, struck up "Hail Columbia, Happy Land," and with a shout the great processio started off. Captain John Milledge, the chief marshal, had with wonderful skill gotten everything in line, and the procession moved at his command. First came the mounted police to clear the way. Next a float with a mobster transparency. On the left hand side were pictures of Cleveland and Hen dricks and the words, "The solid south. Under democratic administration will prove her devo-tion to equal laws, honest government and perpetual union." At the back of the transparency was a picture of Hon. Sam Randail, and under it the words, "Our Guest.". On the right hand side of the transparency was a picture of the late Senator Hill and his memorable words inscribed, "We are in our Father's house and we are at home to stay, thank God." Next came the Atlanta band, making the liveliest sort of jubilee music. Next the democratic league. Next transparencies with various mottoes. One was a picture of a woe-begone fellow being ridden on a rail, and the inscription: "Th Wilkesbarre llar—Burn this letter."

Next came a delegation of railroad employes. Next came the DeKalb delegation, bearing a banner inscribed: "DeKalb democracy never yield," "Cleveland," and "Public office a public rust." R. M. No amount of jostling of ding could disturb their glad crowding could disturb their glad-ness. They pressed together, laughed, joked, cheered, and yelled and waited with lovely patience until the triumphal march should come once more into view. All the time from every corner and out of almost every door and window flamed the many hued lights which gave a weird beauty to the score, flashed and flew and sputtered and hanged the myriad pyrotechnic devices that were set of 10 the reflection of this glad, bright spot on the sombre face of the earth. At last the music grow louder down Broad street and the long lines of founder down Broad street and the long lines or torches flared into sight, and then one long shout of welcome went up from the multifude that waited. When to the thousands already on the ground were added the thousands who had returned from the tramp through the blazing streets, a scene was witnessed that was TRULY GRAND, The wide area between the opera house and the Grant building across the street was packed with human beings as close together as they could stand. From the many bright windows and over the heavy burdened balconics on either side o the street for two blocks another multitude gazed down on the great mass below and joined in its glad shouts. Most of these desirable places were occupied by ladies whose snowy handkerchiefs, caught and whirled in the stiff breeze, were silent but eloquent expressions in the universal Jubilee. The closely packed mass of humanity found some way to part far enough to let the carriages pass to the opera house entrance. When the people caught sight of Mr. Randall sitting in the carriage drawn sight of Mr. Randall sitting in one calculated by four splendid blacks over whose heads the reins were held by Willie Jones's fron grip, they burst into a storm of cheers which would have been into a storm of cheers which would have been worthy of the first effort of their already well used lungs. For several minutes there was a con ous cheering, which Mr. Randall rising in his carriage gracefully acknowledged. Mr. Randall finally made his way to the opera house balcopy, which already held several hundred ladies and gentlemen. As he appeared in the full glare of the electric light the enthusiastic ovation given him below was renewed and it was several minutes before Mr. Grady could sufficiently command silence to be heard in making his introduction of the great commoner. At length in a clear voice he said: in a clear voice he said:

ME. RANDALL'S REHARKS.

If feel the pleasure I have long expected of a visit to the capital of Georgia, and a meeting with her people face to face. But it is now a joy not usualized with sadness. While I have around me the leaders of thought in this great state—who make their impress upon the public mind everywhere throughout the union—yet there are two mea representative in the recent history of Georgia who are not present. Death has called away Alexander H. Stephens and Ben Hill, Their death is a reminder of the uncertainty of life, for my old friends with whom I so often advised with, often said they bepet to welcome me to Georgia, are present only in the reverential memory of well-spent lives and great fame. They were men of heroic soul, and now that they passed away they have left us a legacy of noble deeds we may all profitably imitate.

We have won a slorious victory. but with the imitate. We have won a glorious victory, but with the honors come a great responsibility. I believe the democratic party will be fully equal to it; our guide will be that emblazoned on the coat of arms. democratic party will be fully equal to it; our guide will be that semblazoned on the cost of arms of Georgia, "The constitution, wisdom, justice, moderation." When Jefferson was inaugurated on the 4th of March, 1801, there was just as marked a tevolution in polities. The principles he announced were immortal and are as applicable now as when he first uttered them in his imangural address. "Equal and exact justice to all men, of whatever state or persuasion, religious or political, peace, commerce and homest friend the superior of the state governments in all their rights, as the most competent administration for our domestic concerns, and the surest bulwarks against anti-republican tendencies; the preservation of the general government in its whole constitutional visor, as the sheet anchor of our peace at home and safety abroad: "

" economy in the public expense, that labor may be lightly burdened; the honest payment of our debts, and sacred preservation of the public fatth. Ours is the party of the people and there is not a right of the white man or colored that will not be sacredly protected. It has always been the party of personal freedom; of freedom of apeach, of freedom of speces, of freedom of

of personal freedom; of freedom of speech, of freedom of the press and of freedom of religion; the party of babeas corpus.

God bas blessed Georgia with incalculable possibilities. All that is needed is industry to make them certainties. In her thousands of square miles she has the means of agriculture, manufactories and commerce to make her foremost in the markets of the world. She was the last of the thirteen colonies that was settled and she had to meet in the beginning the restrictive policy of Great Britain, which sought to make her the dependent of the mother country in all her material existence, but she broke from such restraints and asserted her purpose then in 1750, as he does now, to live within her own internal resources.

Burke has said: "The stock of materials by which any nation is rendered flourishing and prosperous are its industry, its knowledge or skill, its morals, its execution of justice, its courage, the national union in directing these flowers to one point and making them all center in the public benefit; other than these id do not know and scarcely can conceive any means by which a community may flourish."

This is the sim, the purpose of the democratic party—a noble one—and trought with countless blessings.

I have often the propose of the Mapoleou's period, who said that true attacks monaid and a sarrely who are the prime Minister Meternich, whose diplomacy was so potent in Napoleou's period, who said that true attacks manufactured.

diplomacy was so potent in Napoleon's period, who said that true statesmanship consisted in a knowledge of the resources of a state. Let us acquire the knowledge of such facts and make our laws in conformity therewith.

Our political opponents in the recent struggle advocated that a revision of our tariff laws was a necessity. We of the democratic party agreed thereto, but our platform went further and pointed out the manner in which such revision should be made.

Time does not allow of an extended discussion here on this subject and yet I want to express the opinion that a more intelligent and business-like uttrance on this vexed question never emanated from a public gathering of representative men in the United States, if I understand correctly the meaning of words. We say: The revenue to be raised should be limited to that required for an economical administration of the government, and that the amounts to be raised by a tariff for this purpose shall be so levied on articles imported, which come in competition with our products as to cover the difference in the cost abroad, and the cost in the United States resulted from an unfavorable difference in the vote of interest and the labor employed in the United States. Upon this declaration of purpose every intelligent and patriotic democratican stand, and our country go forward to its yet greater deatiny in store for our people. orward to its yet greater destiny in store for our couple.

patriotic definerat can stand, and our country go forward to its yet greater deatiny in store for our people.

Thave never asserted that there existed the constitutional right to enect a tariff upon the ground of protection for the sake of the sake of cised. Mr. Jefferson in his inaugural to congress in 1801, recummended that internal taxes, the authorization of which had been placed upon the statute books during the administrations of Washington and the administration of Mr. Adams, should be repealed, and they were repealed. Again

Three of the best papers in southwest Georgia are the Albany News, the Americas Recorder and the Perry Home Journal. Since the accession of Mr. Sidney Lewis to the staff of the News, the democracy of that paper, which was always of the iron-ribbed variety, has become even more demonstative. It is a paper which never hesitates in its advocacy of the party or of its nominees, and is winning deserved praise on that account. The Americus Recorder as a chronicler of local events is one of the best and most accurate in the state. The Perry Home Journal stands in the very front rank of weekly journals. Bright, vivacious and thorough, it is to Houston county what THE CON-STITUTION is to Georgia. It is needless to say that like all good papers, it is democratic to the back-

The Rome Bulletin says that a few nights since, Governor Wade Hampton, of South Carolina, was in Talladega, Ala., where he was serenaded by a large concourse of citizens. During the firing of a salute in honor of their distinguished visitor, one of the military boys fired too low and struck the govornor on the fleshy part of the arm just above the elbow with a wad. Hampton coolly handed the wad back to the captain, remarking that it was a "love lick." The governor made an address full of good humor and telling points.

A petition, signed by nearly every merchant and business man in Hawkinsville, was forwarded to the Southern telegraph company on Monday, asking that company to extend their line to Hawkinsville.

A writer in the Albany News says: A little daughter of Wm. A. Billingslea died near this piace this morning of hemorrhagie fever, which has become alarmingly fatal in this imme-diate section this year, there being even in the small number of whites in this district about six cases of death from this cause, and only one from all others combined. Mr. Billingslea has one other rhild not expected to live, from the same dise

Last Friday morning, while a party of negroe were engaged in putting out a fire in the woods in Dodge county, the dress of a woman by the name of Ella Wheeler, caught fire. Instantly the woman started for home at a breakneck speed. Her husband was in the party, but, on discovering the condition of affairs, he fainted. Others In the crowd, however, started in pursuit of the burning woman, but were unable to come up with her before she reached her home at the mill. The clothes of the unfortunate woman were entirely consumed, and she was horribly burned from her knees up. Dr. J. D. Herrman was summoned to the bedside of the woman, and did all that medical aid could suggest to alleviate her sufferings. Her life is despaired of.

Last Thursday afternoon the house of Scaborn Moore, an industrious colored man living near Eastman, was burglarized of goods and money to the value of $40. Moore's wife was absent from the house about one hour, visiting a neighbor, and on her return found the floor torn up, and the articles missing. There is no clue as to who committed the act.

Mr. J. B. Blackstone, who lives in the neighborbood of Rovetown, discovered a bear near his house one day last week. An effort was made to capture it, but to no purpose. Report says that it has been since by several parties.

On September 7, 1831, Charles J. Allen was a ood-passer on the engine "Emerson Poote," which was drawing a freight train into Savannah over the Central railroad. When the train arrived about four miles from Savannah, at the nection of the Charleston and Savannah railway, it collided with a freight train standing on a switch, the switch having been left open. The engine upon which Allen was employed was own from the track and overturned. Allen was seriously bruised about the body, and injured internally so that he was compelled to employ the services of a physfeian and surgeon at a cost of over $500. He also incurred other expenses, and has since been incapaciated for duty. Allen being a minor the suit by Mary E. Allen, his mother and next friend, through his attorneys, Lester & Ravenel. The company was defended by Messrs. Lawton & Cunningham. The taking of testimony was concluded during the forenoon, when the jury retired, and after being out a short time returned a verdict against the company for $2,000.

In Waycross the store of Captain James Knox was entered by a back door and the saie, which he had accidentally left unlocked, was robbed. His money drawers were also ransacked, one of which was picked up on the railroad track. The amount stolen, as near as can be learned, was $25. The thieves cut a hole in the door through which they reached and turned the key, which was on the inside. The hand was a very small one, from all

Ben Riley shot and killed another negro at Campbelltown, S. C. Riley had boarded the steam-er Katie on her way to Savannah, but finding that he was known and was likely to be arrested, left at the next landing after he got aboard, and took to the country. The police of Savannah, were awiting for the steamer here ready to arrest the negro as soon as he came ashore. The particulars of th crime were then unknown, but as far as developed they are as follows: The murdered man's name was Morris Green. The two men quarreled about a brass watchchain of exceedingly small value. which a third party was trying to sell. Riley cursed Green, and rising to his feet from where both men were sitting on the platform at the depot, moved of a little. Grean also rose, and, advanc ing towards Riley, said, "Don't curse me," when Riley drew a pistol from his hip-pocket and fired on Green, the ball taking effect in his head and entering the brain. After shooting Green Riley ran off through an open field and made his escape. There were probably a hundred people present who witnessed the tragedy, but failed to secure the arrest of the murderer. Riley has, it is claimed, long been universally dreaded and despised. He is a son of William Riley, who made himself notorious in Charleston a few years ago by figuring as as a witness against the white people before the Teller committee. This is the third murder which has been committed at Campbelltown, all the vic-tims and two of the murderers being negroes. Riley is still at large. MATTERS OF ENTERPRISE.

The proprietors of the Dawson cotton seed of mill report that they have sold forty-five barrels of oil this year, shipped and sold five bales of cotton and have on hand over 100,000 pounds of meal, 32 barrels of oil and more cotton seed than the entire crop of last year, while last year they only made 12 barrels of oil. Mr. George W. King, who lives near Grovetown, has gathered 32 bales of cotton from 40 acres. Mr. King is numbered among Columbia's most successful farmers.

Mr. S. N. Youngblood, of Columbia county, is all right on the hog and hominy line. On his neat one-horse farm he has made 300 bushels of corn and peas, potatoes and other eatables in propor With this crop all housed, and his stormpit near by, he seems to be well contented.

The Rome oil mills have sent a box to the New Orleans exposition, a day or two ago, containing a full exhibit of the process of making cotton seed oil. The box was divided into compartments and was filled as follows: Cotton seed, lint taken from seed, cracked seed, cotton seed oil, cotton seed meal, cakes of meal as they came out of the press, cakes of meal ready for shipment and sale. This exhibit will be one of the prominent features from north Georgia and Rome.

Mr. Owen W. Bush, of Chauncey, has com menced the erection of a building for the purpose of manufacturing lubricating oil at that place. This is a new industry, and we wish the proprietor success. Mr. Bush is an enterprising and worthy citizen, and when he undertakes to do a thing i generally moves.

A Case of Poisoning.

A Case of Poisoning.

From the Americus, Ga., Recorder.

Last Monday Thomas Griffin, a colored man living near this city, told his wife to make him up some corn bread to take with him to his work, he being employed on the railroad at Andersonville. His wife, in order to make the bread, got some milk of a neighbor and the bread was made. On Tuesday, while Griffin and a companion were eating the bread for lunch, they were taken violently ill, with all the symptoms of arsenical poisoning. They were removed to a house and the bread was laid upon a shelf. Some crumbs of the bread dropped upon the floor and were picked up and caten by a couple of little children, who were soon also ill. When Griffin in a measure recovered, he became alarmed for his family, knowing that some of the bread was left at home. Arriving heme, he found all of his family sick except his wife, who never eats that kind of bread. One of the children has since died and the others are yet sick.

DECATUR, Ga., November 28.—[Special.]—In the last issue of the DeKalb News appears a very unny notice caused by a typographical error Hon. M.

A. Candler, who is one of the greatest Sundayschool men in the state, and one of the sirictest observers of the command to "Remember the Sabbath day and keep it holy," is chairman of the democratic executive committee of DeKalb county. He received a petition last week from the citizens of Stone Mountain and vicinity asking that a nomination be ordered for county officers, that a nomination be ordered for county officers, and that proper consideration be given the petition. A notice was sent to the News requesting the members of the executive committee to meet in the courthouse in Decatur on the dist Tuesday in December, at eleven o'clock a.m., to consider the propriety of having a nomination for county officers. When the notice appeared in the News it read "first Sunday in December, at 11 'clock, a.m.,' which caused much comment, notwithstanding everybody was satisfied, it was a typographical error. The committee will meet next Tuesday, and all parties interested are expected to be in attendance. We are of the opinion the committee will make a great mistake if they order a nomination at this late day. The committee is composed of one fitzen from each militia dis ric, and we will be satisfied with their action, believing that they have the interest of the party and the county at heart in whatever they may do.

Mr. Hines, of Washington, from the committee on privileges and elections, submitted a minority report in the contested election case from Burke county. The report disagreed to some of the legal positions assumed in the report of the majority. It was not read, but was ordered printed for the use of the house. The committee appointed to notify Mr. Randall of the courtesy extended to him by the house, entered the hall with the distinguished Pennsylvanian. He was greeted with cheers Pennsylvanian. He was greeted with cheers as he entered with Mr. W. U. Hensel, Mr. B. K. Jamison, and Mr. B. J. McGrann. Mr. B. K. Jamison, and Mr. B. J. McGrann. Mr. Randall was escorted to speaker's desk, and standing in front of it was introduced to the house by the speaker. Mr. Randall said: I beg to make my sinoere acknowledgement of the courtesy you have extended to me, and which I profoundly appreciate. While it is not my purpose to make any extended remarks, I would do violence to my head and heart if I did not give some expression to my feelings. I rejoice that we can at last feel that we have a country without any south, north, east or west; that a solid south and a solid north have been blotted out, and that we have a solid union, riveted in out, and that we have a solid union, riveted in every heart and forming us into one grand people of the United States. [Great applause.] The speaker announced a recess of 15 minutes in honor of Mr. Randall's presence. During in honor of Mr. Randall's presence. Daring that time almost every member of the house was personally presented to him by Speaker Little. Mr. Randall greeted them all heartily and seemed to enjoy the general handshaking. The committee on the academy for the blind which has recently visited that institution submitted a report. It states that the academy is in good condition. The management makes excellent use of the means placed at its disposal. There are 68 pupils in the white department and 6 in the colored department. The exhibitions given by the pupils in both departments showed a remarkable degree of education. The pupils when they leave the academy are fitted for useful and profitable avocations which enable them to be self-sustaining. The report speaks in the highest terms of the noble conduct of Dr. A. W. Calhoun in operating on the pupils of the academy, and inderses the high commendation of the governor. Two hundred copies of the report were ordered printed.

Another report on the contested election.

Mr. Fite, of Bartow, submitted a second minority regort in the contested election case from Burke county. It concurs with the majority report that the three precincts were illegally thrown out, and argues that the contestants were elected on the face of the returns, and should have been holding the seats for Burke county pending a determination of the right to the seats. The report disagrees with the majority report in the conclusion that a large number of illegal votes were cast for the contestants, and that if such votes were thrown out the contestants would be found to have a majority. The report states that the evidence as to the illegal-votes cast is very meagre and insufficient to base any action upon. The report favors the seating of Messrs. Perkins, Cox and Briason. It was ordered printed.

The house adjourned to Saturday of 10 o'clock.

Our Representatives.

The present legislature is one of the finest body of men we have ever had the pleasure to see at the capitol, but the last one of them is coughing, spitting and sneezing to such an extent that we connot stay in their presence long enough to fully enjoy the sight of so handsome a body of men. A bottle of Brewer's Lung Restorer in the possession of each one would remedy this great evil and we suggest that each one of them get a bottle and put a stop to that continual coughing and sneezing. It will care them; take our word for it. Our Representatives.

The greatest events of an age are its best houghts; it is the nature of thought to find its way into action.

The Banquet. A large banquet is to be given to the members of the legislature as soon as they get rid of their colds, coughs, sneezing, etc., we therefore call their ettention to Brewer's Lung Restorer, one belief of which will cure them. If you want the banquet, get Brewer's Lung Restorer to one.

Brewer's Lung Restorer.

Some of its Wonderful Cures.

Some of its Wonderful Cures.

My daughter's cough has been very much loosened and lessened, while her strength has increased considerably since she commenced using Brewer's Lung Restorer. We can scarcely hope for permanent recovery, but are encouraged very much indeed by the change in her condition while using the Lung Restorer. We used it with the permission and under the supervision of our physician, who is very favorably impressed with it I think. I sincerely wish you success in your offorts to heal the sick. Yours truly, W. B. McGILERAY. Richmond. Va. With my experience I must prenounce Brewer's Lung Restorer the best lung remedy made. Four of my brothers and sisters had died with consumption, and about three years ago I became so exhausted by a long continued cough, accompanied with low fever and night sweats, that I could barely get about, and my friends gave up all hope. I coughed so incessantly that I could not sleep at all. After trying several lung medicines I began the use of Brewer's Lung Restorer and was greatly benefited by the first bottle, gaining fiesh and strength and resuming work. I continued to take it and I am as stout now as ever I was, rarely ever cough nor do I suffer with my lungs any more than if they had never been affected.

I am never without a bottle of it in my house During the winter I give it togme, little children, even a little fellow three years old, for anything like common colds or when they show any evidence of croup and always with the most satisfactory results. Very truly, G. E. HUGELY, Barnesville, Ga.

The Brewer's Lung Restorer has done my wife so much good that I never miss an opportunity of "talking it up" to those who require a lung medicine, and I find that it gives almost universal satisfaction, more so than any lung medicine I have ever known.

In August, 1881, it was discovered that my son's wife was in the last stages of consumption. She medicine, and I must also at the medicine I have ever known.

In August, 1881, it was discovered that my son's wife was in the last stages of consumption. She was coughing incessantly and at times would discharge quantities of pus from her lungs, could not sleep or retain anything on her stomach, and we thought it only a question of time when life would be compelled to give way to the fell destroyer. After all other remedies failed, we got Brewer's Lung Restorer and began it in very small doses, as she was very weak. She soon began to improve; continued the remedy and was retored to life and health, and is to-day better than she has ever been before. I regard her restoration as nearly a miracle, for which she is indebted to Brewer's Lung Restorer R. W. BONNER. Macon, Ga.

Brewer's Lung Restorer is a purely vege sle preparation, containing no oplum, morphis oromide or other poisonous substance. Send ircular of long list of wonderful cures.

ATLANTA, NOVEMBER 29, 1884. INDICATIONS for the South Atlantic states clearing weather preceded by local rains in east portion, colder northwest to southwest YESTERDAY was quite a cold day, and particularly frigid was it to those who have been encumbered with a democratic wet-blanket.

winds, higher barometer.

SAN RANDALL will retire to his post in Washington to-day to resume his old position as the balance-wheel of the democratic par-

To THOSE who really wanted to see Cleve land elected- we rejoice with you. To those who really did not want to see Cleveland elected-we are sorry for you.

THERE was not a hamlet in north Georgia that was not represented in Atlanta last night. Every county and town sent its delegation to welcome the great American com-

GEORGIA spoke to the north last night. We will stand with you in every effort to promote an honest and prudent administration of the nation's affairs. People of the north, are you willing that it should so be?

THE great scandal of English society now is the treatment of his daughter by Lord Coleridge. From the revelations made it would appear that the position of the humblest American girl is preferable to member ship in the house of a titled English snob.

THE old story is repeated that a messenge is on his way from Khartoum to Dongola, bearing news from General Gordon. The beleaguered general might as well make up his mind to end his days in the dirty little Soudanese town.

ATLANTA took in the world last night, and sighed for more worlds to conquer. Magnificent as the celebration was, with it torches and music and pyrotechnics, it is only a circumstance to what Atlanta will do next summer when President Cleveland shows himself in the city.

COLONEL A. S. COLYAR of the Nashville American, was among Atlanta's distinguished guests yesterday. Colonel Colyar made a magnificent fight for the democracy in his popular journal, and when he heard that Randall was coming to Atlanta he had to come, too. Colonel Colyar and the American will always be welcomed in Atlanta.

I Ir was Hensel as much as anybody else who gave Pennsylvania a democratic governor. It will be Hensel, as much as anybody else, who will see to it that Pennsylvania takes her place in the democratic procession. As chairman of the state democratic commit tee his record for organization and good work for the party has been phenomenal.

THE enthusiasm which impels men to mark their approval of public men, assumes different forms. It is generally after death that the names of great men are engraved on the map, but an earnest democrat in the Alabama legislature is not willing to wait that long, and moves that a new county be created to be known as Cleveland.

THAT is not a bad idea of an Alabama legislator, who has a bill pending to that effect, that men who will carry pistols, must wear upon their breasts a card with the words "I am armed." As a general thing, however one can look into the eyes of such individuals, and tell that they are not manly enough to take care of themselves without knives and pistols.

THE New York Times' correspondent, who has passed through Georgia, telegraphs his paper that he found perfect quiet; the negroes happy and the whites tolerant; both sides enthusiastic over the approaching jubilee, and no evidence of outrage or scare in the state. To support this he quotes such men as Postmaster Holden, W. A. Pledger. and Emory Speer.

GEORGIA's heart swelled with joy last night. The day was a grand one and will find a warm remembrance in the heart of every true Georgia democrat. It will be the talk of the state. Sam Randall will be the toast of our people. It was a grand climax to the many demonstrations which have been held throughout the state in honor of the election of honest men to fill the most important offices in the nation's gift. Of course those who neither aided in the election of the democratic candidates, nor manifested any evident desire for their success, did not help to make the occasion a success, nor will they rejoice with Georgia in her grand jubilee over the nation's redemption from a bondage of corruption. THE OVATION TO MR. RANDALL.

The heartiness, the spontaniety and the cordiality of the reception to the Hon. Samnel J. Randall by the people of Georgia last night was unmistakable.

We do not speak idly when we say that we know of no man whose coming would have drawn such a vast crowd, or whose appearance would have evoked such wild and prolonged cheers as greeted Mr. Randall when he appeared last night. The great commoner has a hold upon the affections of our people that made manifest by last night's ion, amazed even those who were his warment friends. It is needless to say that through the tumultous day he bore himself as a statesman and a patriot. Georgia's heart will always warm to Sam Randall. And when the speakers appeared on the balcony of the opera house the sea of upturned faces was a sight worth seeing.

Our jubilee was climacteric. It topped the season. It touched the zenith of the uprising jubilation of this glorious year. And now Atlanta puts her excitement aside and drops back to business. She will be on hand in 1888, ready to rally again with the unterrified and jubilant democracy.

THREE OF A KIND.

Messrs. Hensel, Jamison, McGrann, who accompanied Mr. Randall on his southern trip, were the toasts the city over last night. In their speeches at the club, and elsewhere, by their heartiness, their earnestness and their old-fashioned democracy, they took the town. as the saying goes. They divided honors with Mr. Randall, and were marked and popular figures in the parade, in the procession, and in every crowd of the day. They are three of a kind, and a mighty good kind it is. For these gentlemen and their friends the latch string of Georgia always hangs on the outside of the door.

YESTERDAY'S JUBILEE.

A very few words will describe the jubilee of yesterday. It was perfect. In enthusiasm, in size, in execution, it left nothing to be desired. It may be said that the steady, all-day rain kept thousands of persons from coming to the city. The answer to this is, that if more people had come there would have been no room for them. The streets were packed wedgewise. The procession marched for two miles through sidewalks packed to the edge.

INFORMATION FOR THE BLAINIACS. There is one matter in regard to which some of the esteemed Blaine organs are in quite a state of mind. Here is the New York Tribune, which, in commenting on General Gordon's letter to the Commercial Advertiser, says that "less than half the qualified voters of the state of Georgia managed to get their votes into the ballot box and get them counted, and General Gordon knows it. He is particularly careful not to give any explanation of that interesting fact." To this the Tribune adds that "it is waste of time for General Gordon and others like him to argue that the white people of the south wish well to their colored friends and mean to treat them well, and have no desire whatever to do any harm to them, and all that sort of thing. There were 321,000 males of the voting age in Georgia four years ago; 156,000 of them managed to get their votes counted. When General Gordon finds time to explain this circumstance, he will enlighten the public more than he has been able to thus far." On the same subject, the Boston Journal has the following interesting summary:

"In Tennessee and Virginia and in some sec tions of North Carolina there has never been any intimidation to speak of, and in these states there was a full vote at the late election, but in the states of Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Eouth Carolina less than half of a full vote was cast. In every northern state a full registered vote was polled. Even in Massachusetts, where a lighter vote is cast in proportion to the number of persons of the voting age than in any other northern state, except Rhode Island, 21,214 votes was the average polled for a presidential elector. In Alabama the average was 15,379; in Louisiana, 13, 55; in Mississippi, 13,489; in Georgia, 11,903; and in South Carolina, 10,180. In those states of the north in which a full vote was polled, New York averaged 32,420 votes to each elector: Indiana, 32, 8; Ohio 34,122, etc. In New York, New Jersey Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan , Minnesota and Kansas, 5,504,500 votes were polled for 177 electors, an average of 31,099 votes to each elector. In the five Atlantic and gulf states in which the colored people constitute nearly one half of the population, namely: Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina only 618,816 votes were polled for forty-eight elec-tors or 12,892 to each elector. There was as much interest in the election in the southern states re ferred to as in the north. This being the case, will the Republican and the Transcript explain this great falling off in the votes in the negro states except on the ground that violence, intimation and fraud have accomplished their purpose, and that, to use the phrase of a Mississippi paper, "the col-ored republican has concluded that it is better for him to remain in the cotton field election days than to go to the polls." In Georgia, and we suppose the same influences made themselves felt in other states. the negroes are notoriously apathetic about going to the polls. Even in the cities, where proximity to the polls might be supposed to counteract this apathy, not more than a third of the negroes can be depended on to vote. In a contest between two democrats-say, for instance, candidates for mayor or council-the negro voters generally manage to divide and get up a feeling of interest, but in the other elections they do not take the trouble to go to the polls. Moreover, many of the most populous counties have a registration law, and under the operations of this law both whites and blacks are disfranchised.

Since the disestablishmet of the freedman's bureau and union league system of marshaling the negroes at the polls, the blacks have never renewed their interests in elections and they never will until they come to fully appreciate the responsibilities of citizenship. We judge from the tone of the Blainiacs that they will never be satisfied until the democrats demonstrate their disinterestedness by carrying the negroes to the polls in buggies and carriages and compelling them to vote the republican ticket. Consequently, we may take it for granted that the Blainiacs will live and die unhappy.

ANXIOUS TO BE OUTRAGED. The alleged southern outrages, described by anonymous correspondents in certain northern republican paners, are bringing forth peculiar results. They seem to have a strange fascination forthe average northerner, and instead of repelling him they attract him to the section which is painted in such lurid the less true, that more northern people are now preparing to settle in the south than at any other period in our history. Shortly after Cleveland's election, and simultaneously with the publication of the absurd slauders above alluded to, a stream the southern New England and the northwest. For weeks past THE CONSTITUTION has been daily in receipt of numerous letters from northern men, expressing a desire to settle in this section, and making inquiries concerning land, the cost of living, business and the various industries. This class of our mail matter continues to increase. Some days we have a run of correspondence from Iowa and Ohio, and cthers a bulky pile of letters from Massachusetts and Connecticut. Our correspond. ents are republicans as well as democrats. Their political views conflict, but they agree in one thing, the determination to come south to stay and grow up with the country.

This southward movement may excite the surprise of some of our republican friends, and they may ask the meaning of it. The answer at once suggests itself. The new comers want to be outraged. Tired of the dull monotony of existence in their bleak regious they long for such outra ges as the short winters, the long summers, fertile lands, water powers and mines of the undeveloped south. They want to unite and olidify with the most solid of our people. There is room for them, and they will receive a cordial welcome.

Immigration may be put down as one of the settled results of the election.

DEMOCRATIC OFFICE-SEEKING

In a recent issue of the Augusta Chronicle we find a letter from Mr. C. E. Smith, of Washington, Wilkes county, in which he comments on a statement in the Chronicle to the effect that the south will not be greedy in the matter of office-seeking, because of its perfect confidence in the honesty and patriotism of the democratic president. Mr. Smith admires this sentiment, but he qualifies his indorsement thereof by stating that "while it is true the south will not be greedy, it is equally as true that we have eaten 'humble-pie' long enough;" and he informs the Chronicle that if it means to convey the idea that the south should not claim its full share of the offices under the incoming administration he is of the opinion that the editor has "taken a stand which the circumstances do not justify."

Mr. Smith is a clever gentleman and a prominent democrat, and his letter is very well put, especially as to the capacity of the south for leadership, and the devotion of its people to the union and the cause of honest government, but we apprehend that much of what he says is liable to be misunderstood. For instance, his statement that the south has been eating "humble pie" long enough tails to strike us very forcibly. Before the war the south certainly ate no humble pie, and since the war there has been no occasion for indulging in such a diet. It is true southern democrats have held no offices under the re publican administrations that have succeeded each other with such regularity, but it is equally true that no democrat, except in special instances, could afford to accept office from the republicans. We cannot feel, therefore, that the southern democrats have been compelled to eat any more humble pie than the northern democrats.

Moreover, we do not see what particular 'claim" the south has on a democratic administration in the matter of official patronage. The word is a very large and significant one. A sense of equity will, of course, distribute a reasonable share of the offices to be filled among southern democrats, but we know nothing of any "claim" to be insisted on. It has been the custom to give to each state a fair share of the positions in the de partments, and, until the republicans introduced the episode of carpet-baggism, the federal offices in each state were filled men who had the respect and confidence of the people. The only "claim" that we know anything about concerns the people rather than the office-seekers. We shall claim, and insist on it, that the federal offices in this state be filled by men who are not only capable and honest, but who are in sympatby with the people. The claim is a very modest one-so modest, indeed, that the office-seekers will hardly be satisfied with it.

We desire to put on record this fact, name ly, that the democrats of the south are not democrats because they want office. If office-holding were an object in this section. the democratic party would have disappear ed long ago. We have no "claim" to present, no demands to make. We shall be satisfied if President Cleveland gives the country an honest and economical administration, and makes reasonable progress in bringing about the reforms that are so necessary to the prosperity and happiness of the people. The benefits the country, especially the south, expects to derive from an honest and conscientious administration are more substantial and lasting than the benefits of office-holding. In addition to this consideration, it may be taken for granted that the great majority of the applicants for office from both sections will be composed of men who have eithet failed in business, or who are out of business, and if this is the case, the people are not likely to take any very great interest in making "claims" for the office-seekers. The truth is, the people are entitled to the best services of the best men, and sectional lines do not run across So far as civil service reform is concerned we are in favor of the substance and not the shadow. For instance, we are not in favor of an interpretation of the law that will keep in office men whose officious partisanship has made them offensive to honest people nor are we in favor of an interpretation of the law that will keep in office men who are in the pay of any of the corporations, or moopolies, that have "business" enough in Washington to make the employment of a lobby profitable. In short, the civil service law ought to be so interpreted under a democratic administration so as to leave in office only those republicans who can establish not only their efficiency, but their character and integrity as well. These are a few of our views. They may be worth nothing, but we are of the opinion that President Cleveland's administration will clearly demonstrate the fact that the end and aim of the democratic party is not office-holding.

THE Iowa State Register, of Sunday last, prints a cut of a so-called confederate flag, and beneath it has a bogus telegram from Atlanta stating that has a bogus telegram from Atlanta stating that "an old rebel flag was run up on the state house" when the news of Cleveland's election was received. We are curious to know what the editors of the Register expect to gain by printing and indorsing such lies as this? Do republican editors lie because they want to, or because they can't help it?

REPUBLICANS at the south will discover after awhile that they can do something better than send lies to their northern acquaintances. In etters have been made very uncomfortable. One them, indeed, has been thrashed by a negro. Why cannot republicans at the south write the

A GREAT many people in and around New York state are coming to believe that it would be a pretty good idea to send Conkling back to the senate. Mr. Conkling has had some experience with the politicians of his party, and no man knows better how to deal with them. The democrats would have no reason to feel hurt at Mr. Conk ling's election.

THE anonymous letters recently published in several northern papers slandering our people are bearing good fruit. The New York Times and several other enterprising journals at once put their most trustworthy correspondents in the field with orders to hunt down the alleged southern outrages, and write up the situation in its true aspect. These special commissioners proceeded to Virginia, the Carolinias, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana, and the result of their labors is now appearing in the northern press. The correspondents found about the same state of affairs everywhere. They found that no rebel flags had been displayed, no negroes maltreated, no republicans abused. From the Potomac to the Rio Grande unbropeace and loyalty The only flag to be seen is the stars and stripes, and whites and blacks, democrats and republicans, seem to feel a deeper interest in business and industrial matters than in politics. The democratic jubilees have been intensely enjoyed by everybody, without reference to party, race, or previous condition of servitude. Just at present the people are thinking good deal more about Christmas than about the fourth of March. It is well that this peaceful picure of the solid south has been brought prominently to the front; and it is pleasent to think that the truth has indirectly been brought to light through the slanders which have recoiled upon the secret foes of a brave, honorable and loyal peo be able to prevent Pennsylvania from seceding. THE fatal epidemic now raging in Virginia in the counties of Wise, Lee, Dickinson and Buchanan, and in Kentucky in the counties of Perry, Leslie and Bell, is a remarkable disease and diserves investigation as well as the most active curative and preventive measures. The disease begins with griping pains in the stomach, followed by debilitating diarrhea and swelling of the throat. It generally proves fatal in three or four days. It is supposed that the malady is the result of the use of impure water, about the only kind of waler that is to be had in that region in consequence of the recent protracted drouth. The settlements afflicted are chiefly in remote and mountainous regions, away from the lines of railway, and reached with difficulty. It will take days to organize a move-ment to supply these afflicted people with physicians, medicines and nurses, and the delay will probably cause the death of hundreds. It was thought at first that the telegraphic dis patches exaggerated the extent of the epidemic, but later accounts report a dreadful state of af fairs. The plague stricken people have the sympathy of the entire country, and efforts are being made to relieve them as speedily as possible.

It is not known just how many bushels of baked eans Boston consumed on Thanksgiving day, but it is a fact that the Bostonians received for that day's use 4,400 bushels. The consumption of beans is increasing yearly all over the country. The increase in the crop has grown from 1,341,945 bushels in 1883 to fully 3,000,000 bushels; this year. This may be accepted as substantial evidence that the value of beans as a palatable, nutritious and economical article of food is becoming more widely known. Even in the infancy of the republic Boston was known as a bean center. The fame of her baked beans became world wide. Other cities ridiculed this frugal but inviting dish, but nothing could diminish its popularity. Baked beans may now be seen in Boston and San Francisco, in Chicago and New Orleans. They have kept pace with the country's growth, and in the race for popularity it may be said that they have left the more preten us but less insinuating codfish ball far behind. More could not be said.

THE Cincinnati Commercial Gazette says it is a mistake to suppose that Blaine abused the south in his Augusta speech. We suppose, therefore, that nothing a republican blackguard can say in regard to this section is to be construed into

It is genesally believed that orators control re publics, but the men who have had the longest tenure of power in this country were not speakers at all. Washington, Jefferson. Jackson and Grant could scarcely make a decent speech of ten minutes. On the other hand some of our most brilliant orators have put forth almost superhuman efforts to obtain the presidency, and have been repeatedly baffled. Undoubtedly great speakers wield a vast power in this country as party leaders but men without the gift of oratory seem to stand the best chance of securing executive office.

In the Swiss republic the frightful increase of drunkenness has attracted the attention of the government, and it has been found that the evil is chiefly the result of the extraordinary cheapness of French brandies and their native imitations. Thousands of once prosperous families have been reduced to beggary, and general thriftlessness is spreading throughout the country. The medy proposed is a tax so enormously high as to amount to virtual prohibition. In future it will be impossible for any except the very rich to buy brandy. Novelists of the school of Messra. Howells and ames are doubtless surprised at the phenomenal success of "Called Back," and "Dark Days," by Hugh Conway. There is nothing remarkable in Mr. Conway's success. He simply invents a good story and tel's it in the old-fashioned way. He gives his readers plenty of stirring incidents and good plots. He fools away no time dissecting flabby char acters of namby-pamby young ladies and dudish young men. Our story writers would do well to part company with Messrs. Howells and James and go back to first principles. Such novels as "The Newcomes," "A Tale of Two Cities," "My Novel" and "Monte Christo" will never be produced by the so-called "international school. But just such masterpieces of fiction will always be popular, and writers may as well go with the current instead of swimming up stream.

The great aches which spanned Marietta street from the customhouse to the capi-tol, were covered with bunting and union flags, and from each one of them hung pictures of Cleve-land and Hendricks. Just in front of these arches the fireworks were sent off. There was a great variety of them and as they cleaved and lit the dark night the old brass cannon bellowed forth its defiant proclams tion. The great rockets which shot a thousand feet in the air and then burst into showers of red and blue and yellow fire; the fire showers, the great bunches of roman candles, the whirling wheels of flashing fire in a dozen hues of blinding brightness, elicited fresh shouts from the thousands of happy democrats. The set pieces were all beautiful. The stars and the banners were especially so, and everyone of them performed as if it had been trained for the ccession. While the regular pyrotechnic display was progressing the volunteers in this line were doing their duty nobly. Rockets rose from every ter of the city. THE RECEPTION LAST NIGHT-MR. RANDALL SHAK ING HANDS WITH GEORGIANS. At ten o'clock a large number of citizens had gathered at the governor's mansion to pay their respects to Mr. Randall and the other gentlemen from Pennsylvania. Across the walk from the gate to the mansion had been erected a model of the Georgia coat-of-arms which was illuminated. Randall, after the varied events of the day, and the severe effort of an outdoor speech to a great multitude, seemed wonderfully fresh and hearty. He re-ectived the citizens in the front parlor, and warmly extended his hand to each as the throng continued lo come. Governor McDaniel stood by Mr. Randall and near by were Messrs. Hensel, McGrann and Jamison. Mrs. McDaniel and her daughter received the many ladies who called and presented them to Mr. Randall and the other guests Though it was late when the reception becan it was enjoyed by all who attended it and the fit conclusion to a day which will be memble in the history of Atlanta. By midnight it all over, and the city had almost quieted down

The Movements of Our Guests.

Mr. Randall and his friends will take a drive over the city this morning, and will be at THE Constitution office an hour or two during the forenoon. The day will be spent in looking at the various objects of interest about the city, and the whole party will leave at five o'clock this afternoon for Washington city direct. A delegation rom Nashville attempted to get them to go by that city, but Mr. Randall found it impossible t spare the time.

Mr. Randall and Mr. McGrann are being delight fully entertained by Major and Mrs. Livingston Mims, Mr. Jamison and Mr, Hensel are the guests of Mr. Grady.

MINOR INCIDENTS THAT WERE CAUGHT UP ON THE FLY BY THE SCRIBE, Major Mims's toast of Mr. Randall was the gem of the day. It was brilliant, chaste and elegant, and elicited prolonged applause. Mr. Jamison has been tendered three ladies unches by friends in the city, but has been forced to decline them all. As Mr. Randalls carriage pressed its way through the crowd in front of the opera house the wheels were clogged, and it was almost lifted from the ground by people shaking hands with the great ommoner. An attempt was made to take him from the carriage and carry bim on the shoulders of the crowd to the opera house. Mr. W. O. Jones, through compliment to Mr. Randall, himself drove four black horses to the carriage containing the great statesman through the procession. The feat was one that had been pronounced impossible. Mr. R. J. Lowry sat on he box beside him and assisted in handling the ribbons

After the speaking Mr. Randall and several prominent gentlemen were entertained for a short time at the Allington by Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Lowry The occasion was exceedingly pleasant. Charley Northen led his hosts grandly.

Dynamite in Ireland.

DUBLIN, November 28 .- An attempt was made at Tralee last night, which nearly proved successful, to destroy with dynamite the residence of Samuel Hussey, known as the Edinburg house. Many of the windows and a portion of the eastern wall of the house were badly shattered. Pauper Immigration to Canada.

TORONTO, Ont, November 28.—Prefessor Good-win Smith, chairman of the Combined City charites, has been authorized to wait upon the provincial and dominion governments to urge the stoppage of pauper immigration. Several immigrants recently arrived here penaless, and are now a burden upon the city. It is stated that they were induced to come by promises of work made them by representations of the steamship companies, who gave them passage at reduced rates. Resumed Business.

PITTSBURG, November 28 .- The puddling and horseshoeing departments of Shoenberger & Co's. rolling mills, which has been closed for some time, resumed operations this morning. Chess, Cook & Co's. mills, after being shut down several weeks, will start up Monday.

Mr. Williams Gives Way. Gus Williams did the handsome thing last night

His company was advertised to appear at DeGive's opera house in "Captain Mishler," but on his arrival in the city at 2:30 p. m., he learned that the committee in charge of the demonstration wished the speakers of the evening to talk from the balcony of the opera house. He notified Mr. DeGive that he would postpone the performance for the night, as he did not wish to interfere in any way with the complete success of the grand jubilee He, with his whole company, was present on the balcony during the passage of the procession, and through the speeches and the protechnical display. Should Mr. Williams voice be at all husky this afternoon or evening, it will be readily explained by the fact that he stood near Mr. Randall and Mr. Hensel during their speeches and yelled himself hoarse, so entusiastic did he become. Mr. Williams said to Mr. DeGive that he had seen many political demonstrations during his many tours, but never did he see one so marked, nor so characteristically enthusastic as was that of last night.

Mr. Williams will appear at the opera house at a matinee to-day in "Captain Misnier," and to-night in "One of the Finest," and in both plays he has made a national reputation. He deserved fine houses at the hand of Atlanta and will get them at both performances. He is simply inimitable in his part in both plays.

The Hocking Valley Strikers. He, with his whole company, was present on the

The Hocking Valley Strikers. COLUMBUS, O., November 28.-Indications are that, owing to the persistent efforts of the local authorities of Hocking, Athens and Perry counties, aided by the officers of the Columbus, Hocking Valley and Toledo road, the Ohlo Canal exchange and the syndicate of operators, the strike which has been in progress in Hocking Valley for the last six months will soon come to an end.

Coal Hoppers on Fire. COLUMBUS, Ohio, November 28.—At'seven o'clock this afternoon, one of the coal hoppers at Straitsville was set on fire, and a crowd of men refused to let the citizens extinguish the flames. The fire department was called, but did nothing. Finally a man rushed in and was quickly followed by others, and the flames were soon extinguished. Several shots were fired for the purpose of intimidating those who wanted to put the fire out. All the mines in Straitsville are closed, and the coapery will hold the county responsible for the damage to property.

ONE NEGRO KILLS ANOTHER,

George Anderson Cuts Pope Hopkins Throat in a Decatur Street Bar.
At one o'clock this morning Pope Hopkins, a negro well-digger, was lyinglin a pool of his own ood, on the floor of Bob Stevenson's barro Decatur street, dving from the effects of a knife wound inflicted by George Anderson.

wound inflicted by George Anderson.

A few minutes before midnight last night the two men were in the saloon drinking, but neither was drunk. The man who was tending the bar had just given the crowd notice that he must close up and as Anderson was passing out he jerked Hopkins' hat off his head and tore it up. This made Hopkins mad and in an angry tone demanded pay of Anderson for his hat, but Anderson paid no attention to the demand, except to abuse Hopkins, and, throwing the torn hat on the floor passed out the front door. Hopkins followed Anderson to the door and again asked for pay for his hat. Anderson wheeled around and began cursing Hopkins, who asked for pay for his hat Anderson wheeled around and began cursing Hopkins, who retreated into the saloon. As Hopkins went back into the saloon Anderson followed him. When Hopkins reached one of the pool tables in a room in rear of the barroom he remarked to the crowd who had witnessed the hat tearing:

"I'll make the soundrel pay for that hat yet!" Anderson was standing benind Hopkins and heard the remark, but Hopkins did not know that he was present. As Hopkins completed the remark Anderson said:

"You will, will you?" As he made this remark Anderson drove a keen, long knife blade into Hopkins's neck on the left side, inflicting a mortal wound. The blade severed the jugular vein, and with the blood flowing in torrents from the wound Hopkins sank to the floor. Anderson wheeled and ran. Patrolmen Abbott and Taylor heard the row and chased Anderson, who ran to the m dical college, on Butler street, before he was captured. The patrolmen fired eight shots at Anderson as he ran, and Anderson fired back four times before be gave up. Anderson was placed in the city prison.

Dr. Fred King was called to see Hopkins. The Dr., Fred King was called to see Hopkins. The man lay in an actual pool of his own blood, and Dr. King said that the jugular vein had been severed, and ne could not live a half hour. At 1 o'clock he was pronounced dying. The only eye-witness to the cut-ting was William Lyle, a South Carolina negro, who came to Atlanta yesterday to see the celebra-tion. Fearing he would skip Coroner Hilburn had him locked up.

Roller Skating.

A taste for this amusement seems to be running, and why not? It is certainly entertaining to a crowd of spectators to be lookers on, especially to watch new beginners, some like Winkle, of the Pickwick papers, with constant desire to throw their feet into the air and bring the back of the head in contact with the floor: others following the spreadcagle slide, or the side glide step, suggestive of catastrophe. Then, too, "its a pleasure to see those who have learned the art, who have acquired the Philadelphia twist, the suburban roll, the scrpentine roll, pivots, spins and the lap foot curl. It demands plain, serviceable dress, freedom of motion, broad soled shoes and grace of action. Roller skating is a very healthful exercise.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movemen. s in By telegraph to The Constitution.

CHICAGO, November 23-A fair speculative busilocal account. Foreign advices were of a most favance of 6d on cargoes, but the effect of this on the market here was only temporary. Receipts here were again large. The market opened stronger, quickly advancing 140%, but offerings declined %e, fluctuated and closed on the regular board 1 c over the closing on Wednesday. On the afternoon board the feeling was again quite firm. The market closed at 741 c for November, 741/2e for December, 751/2e for January and 817/2e for

Corn was in fair speculative demand, and early the market ruled firm, prices advancing % % % for deferred futures, but later eased off le from outside figures. The decline was attributed to clear cold weather, and prospects of large arrivals tomorrow, as receipts will represent arrivals for forty-eight hours, November, was offered more freely and closed 23/2 lower, all the year 1/2 lower and May 1/c lower. On the afternoon board November again declined 1/4c, closing at 38c with

December 36c, January 3434e and May 47c. Oats were dull, showing slight changes. November, 26%c, December and January 25%c and May Pork was firmer early, fell off a shade but be came firm again on the afternoon board, closing at $10.75 for all the year, $10.95 for January and $11.17% for February.

Lard was steady at $7.05 for November, $6.77% for December and $6.80 for January.

THE CONFERENCE.

YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS OF HE METHODIST CONFERENCE.

Rev. George G. Smith, the Sunday School Agent, Makes a Report - a Report on Paine Institute Submitted by Rev. Morgan Callaway-An Interesting Discussion, Etc,

The fall of rain had but little perceptible effect in lessening the attendance on the conference. The exercises of the third day were commenced with devotional exercises conducted by the venerable Simon Peter Richlution that a special committee of three be appointed to confer with the temperance committee of the general assembly and express as the opinion of this body that a bill submitting to the voters of the several counties of this state a law prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors as a bev-

After stirring remarks by Rev. Jesse Boring, W. H. Potter, W. J. Cotter and J. C. Barton, the resolution was adopted, and Revs. J. W. Lee and W. A. Candler and J. C. Barton were appointed as said committee.

W. R. Branham, Sr., H. H. Parks and W. H. Potter moved the appointment of a special committee on observance of the Sabbath, which prevailed, and Revs. W. F. Quillian, G. W. Daval and B. F. Faris were appointed.

Rev. George G. Smith, the efficient and eloquent Sunday-school agent, made an interesting verbal report. He found 652 Sundayschools in the conference. There was no hos tility to the Sunday-school, but a great lack of interest in the work by parents. This was no more characteristic of the rural schools than those in towns and cities. He noted with pleasure the fact that preachers were preaching more to the children than formerly and more children were being converted. He had visited the destitute sections. In some schools he found there only text books, the blue black speller, and the Bible. They did not get other literature, not on account of inability to do so, but because they were unable to use them. It did not require much to support the Sunday school agent. He went where he was invited, took what the people gave him, and what he could not get he done without.

Some objected to his work because it was too evangelistic, and not enough educational.

too evangelistic, and not enough educational. He thought the need of the Sunday school was more religion. The hearts of the children were ready for the reception of the truth. He alluded in a touching manner to the death of his son in Texas, and all hearts went out in typically to this regions and devoted Christsympathy to this zealous and devoted Christ-

n soldier. A communication was read from Rev. J. W. A communication was read from Rev. J. W. Hinton, editor of the Quarterly Review, asking that the Review might be referred to a special committee, and adopted. The committee consists of W. F. Robinson, A. C. Thomesend L. D. Grow.

Rev. Morgan Callaway, president of the Paine institute, presented the report of that institute. It began on the first, Wednesday of January last, in a rented room on Broad street, January last, in a rented room on Broad street, in Augusta. Sixty pupils attended the first seasion. They had itinerant schools in Covington, Milledgeville, etc. On the first of October the season opened with 125 pupils. The ages range from fourteen to forty years. Some have enjoyed the advantages of other schools; thirty-five have taught public schools during summer. Miss Salite G. Davis had been elected an assistant teacher. The rooms furnished were insufficient. The majority of the pupils are paying their own way by their own labors. The salaries have met but in part. Rev. W. C. Dunlap had been appointed commissioner vice Rev. J. E. Evans, resigned. Referred to committee on education.

An interesting and extended discussion ensued upon the application of Rev. Joseph W. Blosser to be admitted into full connection. Dr. Blosser was ordained in 1871, when 27 years of age, by the Neosho, Mo., Presbytery of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, a minister. He served sulsequently a Congregational church. His inclinations led him to the Methodist church. Last January he moved to Atlanta, Ga. Soon after he was invited to South Carolina, where he labored diligently and was highly commended by Revs. R. C. Oliver and W. A. Clark. He is said to be a fine expounder of the Bible, clear, strong and humble. Remarks pre and cen were made by Revs. W. A. Chandler, J. E. Evans, Jesse Boring, G. G. Smith, W. ATLANTA, November 28 .- Editors Constitution: We know whereof we speak, and wish to give

We know whereof we speak, and wish to give through the columns of your paper good reasons why Dr. H. G. Hutchison, one of the candidates for alderman, should at the election to be held Wednesday, December 3d, be elected to a position on the aldermanic board.

1. He is a man of strict integrity, fine judgment, intelligent, conservative and discreet. During his residence for a number of years in the city of Atlanta, he has not only fully identified himself with every interest that stimulate her progress and advance in any legitimate channel the cause of her people, but has won the confidence, respect and esteem of all classes of her citizen.

2. He is an invester of his hard-carned means in Atlanta property, and as a propertyholder and man of the people is fully identified with every interest affected by questions of finance and taxation.

3. He has by honest toil and close attention to iterest affected by questions of tinance and taxation.

3. He has by honest toil and close attention to business attained that degree of successaud prosperity that wins the confidence of men in all the branches of business, trade and labor, thus possessing and presenting qualifications so necessary in the proper management of affairs under municipal government.

4. He is free from complication, has steadily refused to make pledges to any person or of any refused to make pledges to any person or of any refused to make pledges to any person or of any refused to make pledges to any person or of any refused to make pledges to any person or of any refused to make pledges to any person or of any refused to make pledges to any person or of any refused to make pledges to any person or of any refused to make pledges to any person or of any refused to make pledges to any person or of any refused to make pledges to any person or of any refused to make pledges to any person or of any character is of the city and all her people.

No one can truthfully assert that these reasons are not facts, and being facts they appeal in this routest, regardless of position, pursuit or place, to the consideration of every voter in the coming election, for their interest is bis interest and in his lands will be guarded and protected.

There are cliticals here who knew him before he test his home in Virginia years ago, to cast his lot with At anta and ner people, and the community from whence he came bears testimony to alis industry honesty and efficiency. His elevation to the aldermanic board we feel sure will redomed to the interest of as well as aid in securing good government to the city.

THE COLUMBIA SCANDAL.

The Lawyers Enter Into the Argument of

The Case.

COLUMBIA, S. C., November, 28.—[Special.]—
Judge Wallace's court was crowded with visitors to-day, to hear the arguments in the Bruce-McDaniel slander case. When all the testimony on both sides was in, the judge told the lawyers o go to the jury. W. H. Lyles, the senior counsel for the defendant, announced that he and his col-league were perfectly willing to submit the care league were perfectly willing to submit the case without argument. Frances W. Fickling, the principal lawyer for the plaintiffs, objected to this node of disposing of the ase. He insisted upon heling heard. General Davantopene: the case for the plaintiff in an impassioned speech of nearly two hours. He excertated several of the witnesses who had voluntered testimony to blacken the reputation of Mr. McDaniel W. T. Butt, Inos. J. Harper, Colonel James Rion, the expert of all professions, and the defendant, were subjects of his hot denunciations. He was really cloquent when inveighing against the slanderers of the male sex who make a play thing of woman's reputation He produced a most favorable impression upon the jury. W. H. Lyies followed in an argument of great clearness and power, which lasted over four hours. He carefully sifted all the testimony on both sides, and made apposite comments as he proceeded. He urred upon the jury to necessity of considering the had reputation of the plaintiff, Mrs. McDaniel, insisting that as she had no reputation to lose she could not recover damages. At the conclusion of his masterly argument the court a liquid of Bruce, and Fickling will make the closing argument. The general impression is that the jury will fail to agree and a mistral will be ordered.

The Comptroller's Views.

Washington, November 28.—Mr Cannon, comptroller of the currency, said to-day, in answer ty an inquiry in regard to the failure of the Middle town national bank, of Middletown, that he learned of the trouble in the bank last Weinesday evening, and ordered a special examiner to proceed to the bank at once and take charge of it. The comptroller also said that on the report of the examiner in July last, it was discovered that King, the president, was borrowing largely from the bank. The directors were immediately notified that the indebtedness of Mr King should be reduced to a point to comply with the law. Information was subsequently received that this had been done. The comptroller, however, under the belief that the bank was not being indiciously managed, notified the directure that its charter would not be extended, and that as the charter would not be extended. and that as the charter would not be extended. and that is indebtedness. The comptroller said further, that unless, trough the action of King, the bank has been crippled very seriously he did to think there would be a serious loss to the public.

Because its President was too Willing to Accommodate His Friends. MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., November 28.—The diddletown National bank has failed, and its Middletown National bank has failed, and its doors were closed this morning. The failure was caused by its president, Thomas King, who accepted large draits from Benjamin D. Brown, grain dealer of Indianapolis, Ind., and Burlington, Is., without security. Brown has made an assignment. His capital was $20,000 and his surplus $15,000. The extent of his loss is not yet definitely known. The depositors will lose nothing. President King takes all the blame on himself. His recent advances were made without the knowledge of the other officers and directors. The bank examiner is on his way from Washington. There is a slight run on the savings bank here, but the latter is in no way involved, and will stand the run easily.

is a slight run on the savings bank here, but the latter is in no way involved, and will stand the run easily.

Bank Examiner G. T. May, of Washington, is now in possession of the Middletown bank. In July last, the directors retified President King that Brown's eredit must not be extended but reduced. King disobeyed the instructions, and the bank has gone under. The record of the acceptances of Brown's drafts on the bank were kept oy President King in abook which he kept in his own possession, and concealed from the other officers. So far as known more than $200,000 of such secreptances are out. It is the opinion of the best informed that the entire capital and surplus of the institution will be wiped out. The directors are the county judge, John G. Wilkin, United States Schafor Van Wyck. of Nebraska; Colonel D. C. Dusenlerry, Hon. W. H. Clark Horatio R. Wilcox, A. H. Vail, U. T. Hayes, President King and Cashfer Daniel C. Carwin. The run on the savings bank here resulted in $20.000 being paid out today. The bank is solvent and ready for any emergency. Houston & Conklin, and C. C. V. Ketchum, grain dealers of this village, who are indoisers for a considerable amount of Brown's paper have made assignments to protect the creoffors. President King is at his home very ill. It is 1 of thought here that he has profited by the transactions, but that he was infatuated with Brown. The latter's operations have been very beavy, as much as $500,000 of his paper having been handled by the bank in a single week.

He was charged with robbery, and when he was delivered to the constable to be taken to jail at Annapolis, the crowd waylaid the constable and took Briscoe from him and hung him. He had been previously warned to leave the county because of the frequent robberies in the neighborhood. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict that death was caused by strangulation at the hand of parties unknown. The place of lynching was on the public road about 15 miles from Annapolis, the time between seven and eight o'clock. the time between seven and eight o'clock.
When Briscoe was seized he was in charge of Deputy Sheriff Grafton Boone and Tip Wells,
who had been summoned to help the deputy. A double barrel gun was put in Boone's face and Tip Wells was pulled from the buggy and burt severely. The lynchers numbered from 15 to 18, and were masked. Λ lady in the third district, who was enciente, and was fired at by Briscoe during one of his robberies, is a lunatic now from the assault. Briscoe was a convict from the penitentiary, where he had been sent for housebreaking. When he was in jail here during the spring, burglaries in the neighborhood ceased. SCORE ON FOR POSSUM TROT. The Largest and Finest Colt Exhibition Ever Held in the State,

From the Americus, Ga., Recorder.

To Drainesville, in Marion county, formerly known as Possum Trot and Jacksonville, belongs the ribbon for the best coll show ever held in the state. Last Tuesday was the day set aside for the exhibit of fine colts. It has been advertised for several weeks in the weekthe farmers and coltraisers of this section. All day Menday the colts began to come in, and when the hour arrived on Tuesday for the ex-when the hour arrived on Tuesday for the exhibition it found forty-one colts as contestants for favors, thirty-six being for the money prizes and five for ribbons.

Jhe judges selected were Judge Harper Black, of Sumter, and Messrs. Maddox and Stokes, of Buena Vista. After a careful examination of the colts, the judges made the following awards: ing awards:
Best colt under six months, Robt. Cranford;

premium, $10.00.

Best colt over six and under twelve months,

David Majors; premium, $5.00.

Rest colt over one and under two years, J. S.

McGarrah: premium, $5.00.

L. Clements; premium, $5.00.

Best colt over three and under four years

Best colt over three and under four years, Joe Crawford; premium, ribbon.

The number of colts shown by each exhibitor were: Robert Crawford, nine; David Majors, five; J. S. McGarrah, eleven; W. L. Clements, eleven; Joe Crawford, five. Mr. J. S. Shehee, of Taylor county, had on exhibition a fine three-year-old dapple-gray stallion, which attracted much attention.

Judge Black says it was the finest display of colts he has ever seen in the state, and he has attended all the state fairs and stock shows. In every respect the exhibition was a success, and the farmers of that community who got it up are to be congratulated for their enterprise. It must be a good country that can show so many fine colts when so little attention has been paid to stock raising.
